Morteratsch

The Felt Lining

Greta and Emil leave Morteratsch station and follow the glacier trail to a bench. The guide waiting there holds up a postcard Nora used as a bookmark. It shows a padded box with a single round hollow. “The bell's rim was loose,” Emil says. “Nora wrapped it before they moved the display.” Greta writes down felt and padded box. Pip studies the lunch pail with the concentration of a mountaineer.

POSTCARD CLUE

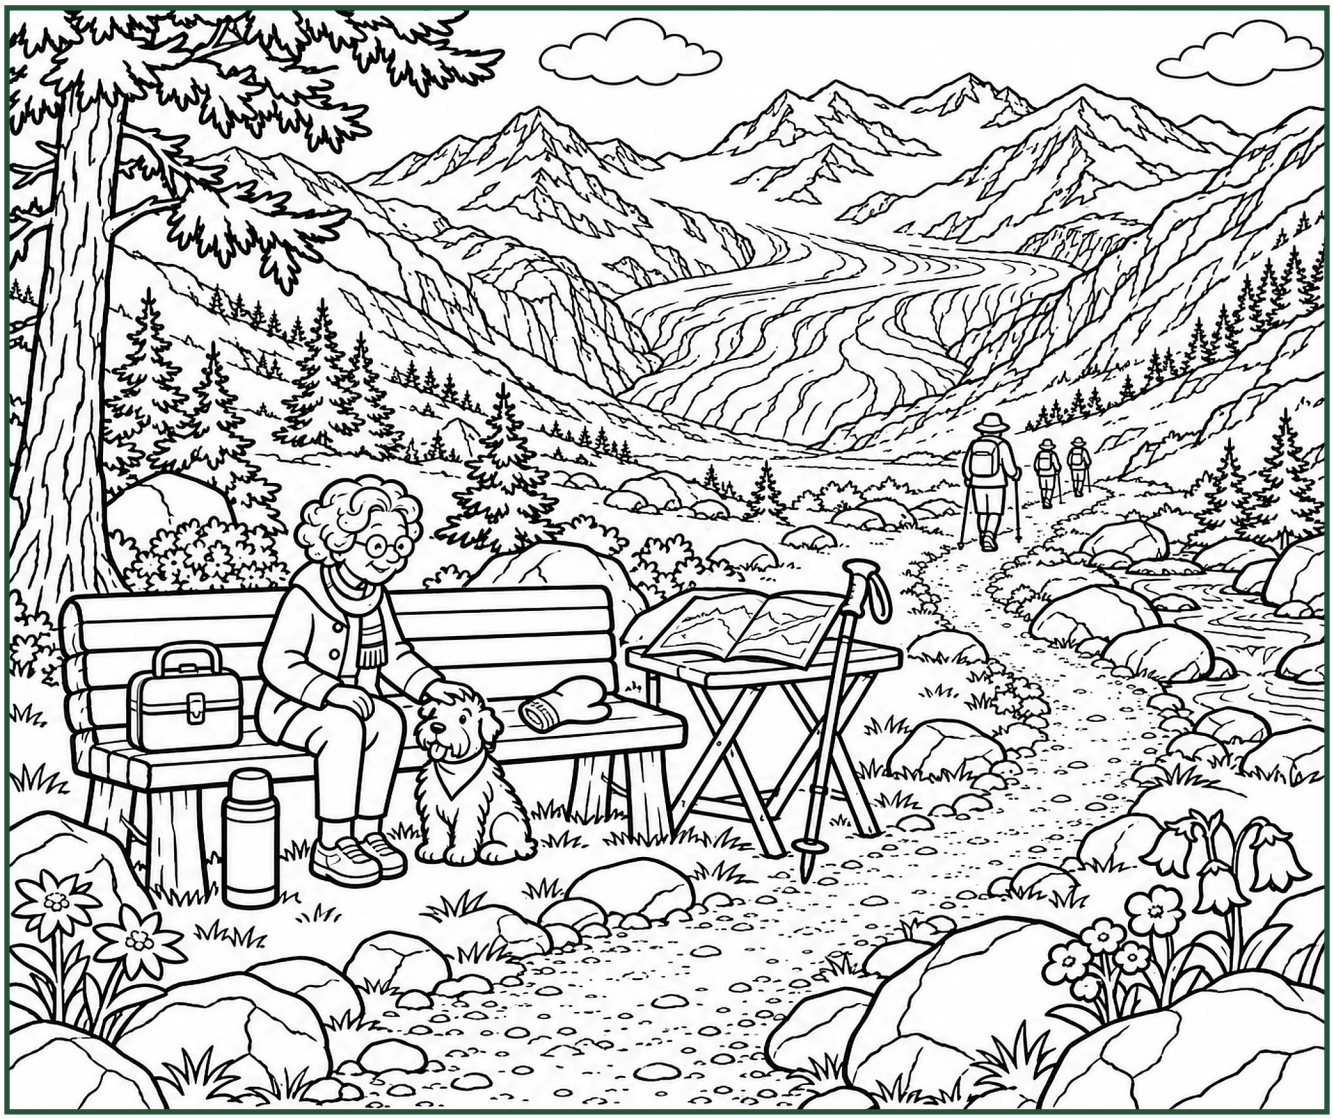

The next drawing shows a striped windsock at the Diavolezza valley station.

GRETA'S NOTE

“Even a bell deserves a warm coat.”
